

P E T R A

Potenti Toscana IGT

The vineyard where the cabernet grapevines grow enjoys a balance of clay and rocky backbone, and a favorable gradient. These characteristics allow optimal exploitation of the rainfall, which combines with the sea breezes that caress this hillside near the coast to harmonize the natural ripening process of the grapes.

Concentrated ruby colour in the glass.
An aromatic framework that is dense and rich in shades of blackberry and blueberry jam, black cherries in syrup and then a thick cover of spices and roasting reminiscent of coffee, with bursts of herbs and balsam.
The palate is strong, voluminous, vigorous, with copious, rounded tannins. Aftertaste in line with the characteristics of the nose: fruity, persistent and spicy.

A pure cabernet sauvignon with currants and spice. Hints of herbs. Medium to full body. Bright and fine. Very pretty fruit and focus. Very fine tannins. Vivid. Bright. Drink in a year or three. Try after 2025.

A nose of vanilla, cedar and cigar box are joined by herbs—especially bay leaf—and intense white pepper that could almost prompt a sneeze. Blackberries, figs and more herbs come through on the palate, joined by cherry liqueur and sambuca flavors pointed up by substantial heat.
